That, on February 25, 2013 at about 0855 an email was sent to the Student Bar Association (SBA) email account, (SBA/ULAWSTUDENT@uconn.edu) which is located on the University of Connecticut School of Law, at 45 Elizabeth Street, Hartford, CT, from the account of a UConn Law Student named Anya K. Bargh (ANYA.BARGH@students.law.uconn.edu). This email stated: "Let's celebrate diversity by having the next dean NOT be Jewish"

That, on February 25, 2013 at about 0910 hrs another email was sent to the SBA from Bargh's UConn Law account stating: "Here's a hint, um, getting pretty sick from our all jew cast with a nigger on top".

That, the emails were opened by a Student Bar Association Committee member, Jessica Signor. Signor said this email stated: "Let's celebrate diversity by having the next dean NOT be Jewish" was in response to an email that the Student Bar Association had sent all the students in reference to the new Law School Dean Search Committee. The Faculty/Staff and students who viewed these emails were offended and upset by the email.

That SBA President Franklin Perry also received the emails. He said that during his experience here at UConn Law School, this is the first time in 3 years he had ever experienced anything close to bigotry. Perry said he is an African American male and was shocked and in disbelief. Perry said he doesn't want the University of Connecticut in general to be affected by the perception of this type of person. He said he feels the University does not affiliate with these types of people. Perry said at one point he thought Bargh was aiming these comments on him, because he is African American and the President of SBA. Perry said after they forwarded the email to Dr. Brown (their advisor) he found out that the UConn Police Department was investigating the incident and feels it will be handled and taken care of.

That SBA member Matthew Loftus said he went to his apartment and opened up the SBA's email account and found the email from Anya Bargh. Loftus said the subject line was a reply for the Dean Search Committee. Loftus said the email read: "To celebrate diversity, let's have our next dean not be a Jew." Loftus said he thought this was offensive and out of line. Loftus said when he closed that email, he realized Anya Bargh had sent another email and he opened it and it read: "here is a hint, I am getting pretty sick of your all jew cast with a nigger on top." Loftus said he read it three times could not believe that anybody in law school could give voice to that kind of ignorant hate. Loftus said he is a white non-religious person and was offended by the email. Loftus said he notified the rest of the executive board of the SBA and asked them how this situation is being handled. Loftus said he does not know Anya personally nor had taken any classes with her at the law school. Loftus said if there is a crime that Anya could be charged with, he would like to see her get arrested for it. Loftus said if Anya cannot be arrested he would hope she get expelled from the law school.

That, the affiant requested computer records for Bargh's UConn Law computer account and received these records from Christine Aschenbrenner of Information and Technology. This affiant had sent a letter of preservation of records for Bargh's account on 03/05/13. At that time Bargh was unable to gain access to her Law mail, her account remained active and unchanged. Sometime between 03/05/13 to 03/12/13 Aschenbrenner said they did not receive any requests from Bargh reporting suspicious email account activity, any unauthorized use of her email or unauthorized changes to her email password. Bargh's account did not show any password changes. Bargh had contacted Associate Dean of Student Affairs at the University of Connecticut Law School Karen DeMeola sometime between 03/05/13 to 03/12/13 to report that she no longer has access to her email account. On 03/13/13 at 0906 hours Aschenbrenner reinstated Bargh's access to her email with a restriction: no access to delete messages. Since the reinstatement Information and Technology Department has had no further inquiries from Bargh.

That, Aschenbrenner said their system logs record password changes, and they have no records either before the access removal or after, that Bargh changed her password. Aschenbrenner said it appears that Bargh continues to use the same password she always had been using, further indicating that there was no unauthorized account access.

That, while this affiant was investigating this incident, this affiant found some accounts under Bargh's name registered with Yahoo!. Bargh had two Yahoo Flickr accounts under the names of: "anyabargh" and "AKBarbies." In the AkBarbies public photo screen account, Bargh had written some disparaging remarks to Professors on the Law School Campus.

That, Bargh had made some anti-semitic remarks and remarks of a sexual nature. Bargh made a remark about a Professor Peter Lindseth that said "honestly, peter, I hate you so much I would like to see you butchered and shit out like dog food" and "Mr. Lindseth will you please let me such your cock again?", "It's over, peter, you're a faggot and that's all. Not cute." These are just a few comments, that Bargh made about Lindseth. Lindseth said when he heard about these comments, he became very upset and afraid for his safety and the safety of his family. Lindseth told this affiant that Bargh is trying to ruin his reputation with these remarks.

That, the affiant became aware that Bargh had made comments about Professor Michael Fischl. Fischl said in the course of his interview with the affiant, he learned to his dismay that he remains on Bargh's "radar". Fischl said the affiant showed him one Internet posting by Bargh and read a second one. In the former, Bargh referred to Fischl as a "faggot" with a "gay classroom routine" who should be fired and sent back to Florida (where he had taught before coming to Connecticut in 2006). Fischl said in the other posting, Bargh stated that she was "horny" and wanted to be "slammed" by Fischl and two other professors. Fischl said this does not strike him as a school-girl crush or just letting off steam or fantasies on the Internet. Fischl said the bizarre combination of violent sexual imagery and homophobic slurs represents a direct and vicious attack on him, and her continued fixation on wanting to see him lose his job makes her afraid of what else she would do - beyond fabricating criminal and sexual harassment charges, posting vicious slurs on the Internet - to bring harm to him, Fischl gathers he is not the only one being targeted by Bargh. Fischl said the era of Newtown, Virginia Tech and Aurora, it is extremely worrisome to him that Bargh will eventually escalate her attacks and bring physical harm to him and/or others. Fischl said he sincerely hopes Bargh can get the much-needed help, but he is desperately concerned that she be stopped in the meantime.

Professor James Stark was also mentioned under Bargh's Flickr account comments. It stated "Fuck you James Stark. You owe me $3000 in pig fat.

This affiant has spoken to these three professors that Bargh mainly targeted in her Flickr account and they all have had negative encounters with Bargh, either because of the grades they gave her or she mistook their acts of kindness to help her succeed in law school as sexual advancements. Bargh has filed complaints against Professors when she receives an unacceptable grade and the Professors feel that Bargh is tarnishing their reputations, especially when she posted these negative remarks on Social Media.

That, the affiant requested computer records for Yahoo Flickr computer accounts and received these records from Marsha Morton. The name on the accounts "anyabargh" and "AKBarbies" is Anya Bargh.

That, since this investigation started, the comments were removed from the Yahoo Flickr account.

That on 04/01/13 at 0830 hrs, this affiant telephoned Bargh and requested an interview, but she did return this affiants phone calls.

Therefore, based on the above facts and circumstances, this affiant is requesting an Arrest Warrant be issued for Anya K. Bargh, 11/10/80, 8 Forest Green Circle, Apt 8, Middletown, CT.
